I am a Front-End Developer with a genuine passion and appreciation for the web. Coming from a diverse background and changing a few career paths along the way I came to realize that coding is what I truly like and want to do.

One important skill that I developed over time is time management. While studying a BSc in Human Nutrition in the middle of my degree (2018) I decided that this is not what I want to do but wouldn't want to loose the time and effort that I put in so far. So… I decided to do both at the same time. Here I am know, after nearly 1 year of professional experience in web development for Netrix Ltd and an unorthodox degree, web-development-wise, in Human Nutrition I am ready to take my skills to a whole new level.

Employment Details

Netrix Ltd

London

Front-End Developer

August 2019 to current

Walkers of Whitehall

London

Bartender

September 2018 – July 2019

Responsibilities:

- convert design files into HTML, CSS and JS

- Configure the Modx view and files

- Updating and creating new pages

- Optimizing and creating HTML email templates

- Creating webpages with an SEO mind

During my development at Netrix I gained rich and meaningful experience by engaging in a large number of activities such as: managing previous created websites, converting new design files into HTML, CSS and Javascript/Jquery and subsequently adding everything together into Modx CMS.

Also, part of my work was to create and test HTML emails so that we can integrate a payment feedback for some of our ecommerce websites.

Netrix was my first job in the industry and given the fact that I had to deal with a large number of tasks and responsibilities I quickly develop my skills.

Working as a bartender I developed good social skills.
